

Scholar's Strike Canada – September 9-10, 2020

Even if it is not possible in New Brunswick to legally strike during the term of a contract, the FNBFA encourages member associations and their members to join as much as possible in the activities and actions within the international protest movement organized by #ScholarStrikeCanada and which will take place on September 9 and 10, 2020 against racism in all of its forms.

Let us call on our university administrations to support all members of staff, regardless of their status, and the students who will participate in activities and actions to protest against racism and police violence on September 9 and 10, 2020, without penalty.

Declarations of solidarity are no longer enough, now is the time to act for racial justice.
